A black, transgender-led nonprofit organization geared toward providing awareness, support, empowerment, and visibility to members of the transgender and non-binary communities of color who are either struggling with or have overcome gender identity-related issues. Serves the Five Boroughs of New York: Brooklyn, Queens, Manhattan, Bronx, and Staten Island

In particular, the Saving Our Own Lives (S.O.O.L.) program helps disadvantaged youth in their journey through transition, through mentorship on transgender and gender-nonconforming POC living in Brooklyn and throughout the five boroughs of New York City. The program is structured to support the individual through personal, emotional, educational, financial, and transitional growth.
